Additional information

I am a communicative person who is open to getting new experiences and new knowledge in various industries. Constructive criticism and wise advice from more qualified colleagues will only help me to work better and achieve greater results. Such behavior helps to overcome difficulties and was highly appreciated during my daily routine of being a pilot of a commercial airline.

My job requires me to make proper decisions to ensure the safety and efficiency of the flight and stay focused on tasks regardless of emotions or personal problems. Because of such responsibility pressure, I prefer to spend my free time in nature or doing calm and relaxing hobbies.
