Dear EPAM University Team,

I am writing to apply for a scholarship in the IT Generation program as you kindly offered to join a front-end course at EPAM University.

It is amazing that the worldwide IT community on behalf of the Ukrainian government gives thousands of people a chance to get new knowledge and start a better future for them and for the country as well. I believe that students will achieve great results, as in such difficult time for Ukraine, all citizens are highly motivated to take every opportunity to learn from more experienced tutors.

And I am very excited to take part in such an ambitious project. I have no doubt that I will work hard to apply my potential to succeed in a new industry for me.

My primary education degree is a commercial pilot. After five years and 2300 flight hours on aircraft of Ukraine international airlines I and 140 pilots were asked to leave the position of First Officer due to reorganization of airline as a result of economic impact of COVID pandemic. I was trying to get an offer from respectable airline but unfortunately only third world countries experience a lack of personnel.

That's why I decided to change a vector of my life and started searching for a new way of living. As I studied at IT lyceum in Dnipro, I am familiar with computer science and know basic programming principals and algorithms. My aviation career has helped me to improve self-discipline, decision-making skills and processes planning.

During flight it is vital to stay focused, monitor various data and think about possible difficulties in advance. Such abilities are helpful during self-education but it is still not enough to study effectively, especially at the beginning of a new career. That is why I hope to join your successful EPAM University to learn from the professionals and one day I will pay back by sharing my knowledge with new generation of students.

I am grateful for your great support of beginners.

Best regards, Vladyslav.
